Introduction:

This deck represents the results from an online survey of 1,025 U.S. low-wage workers conducted September–November 2020 by the Project on Managing the Future of Work at Harvard Business School. The survey questionnaire is also available on our website. This deck shows the survey results by race of the respondent.

General notes:

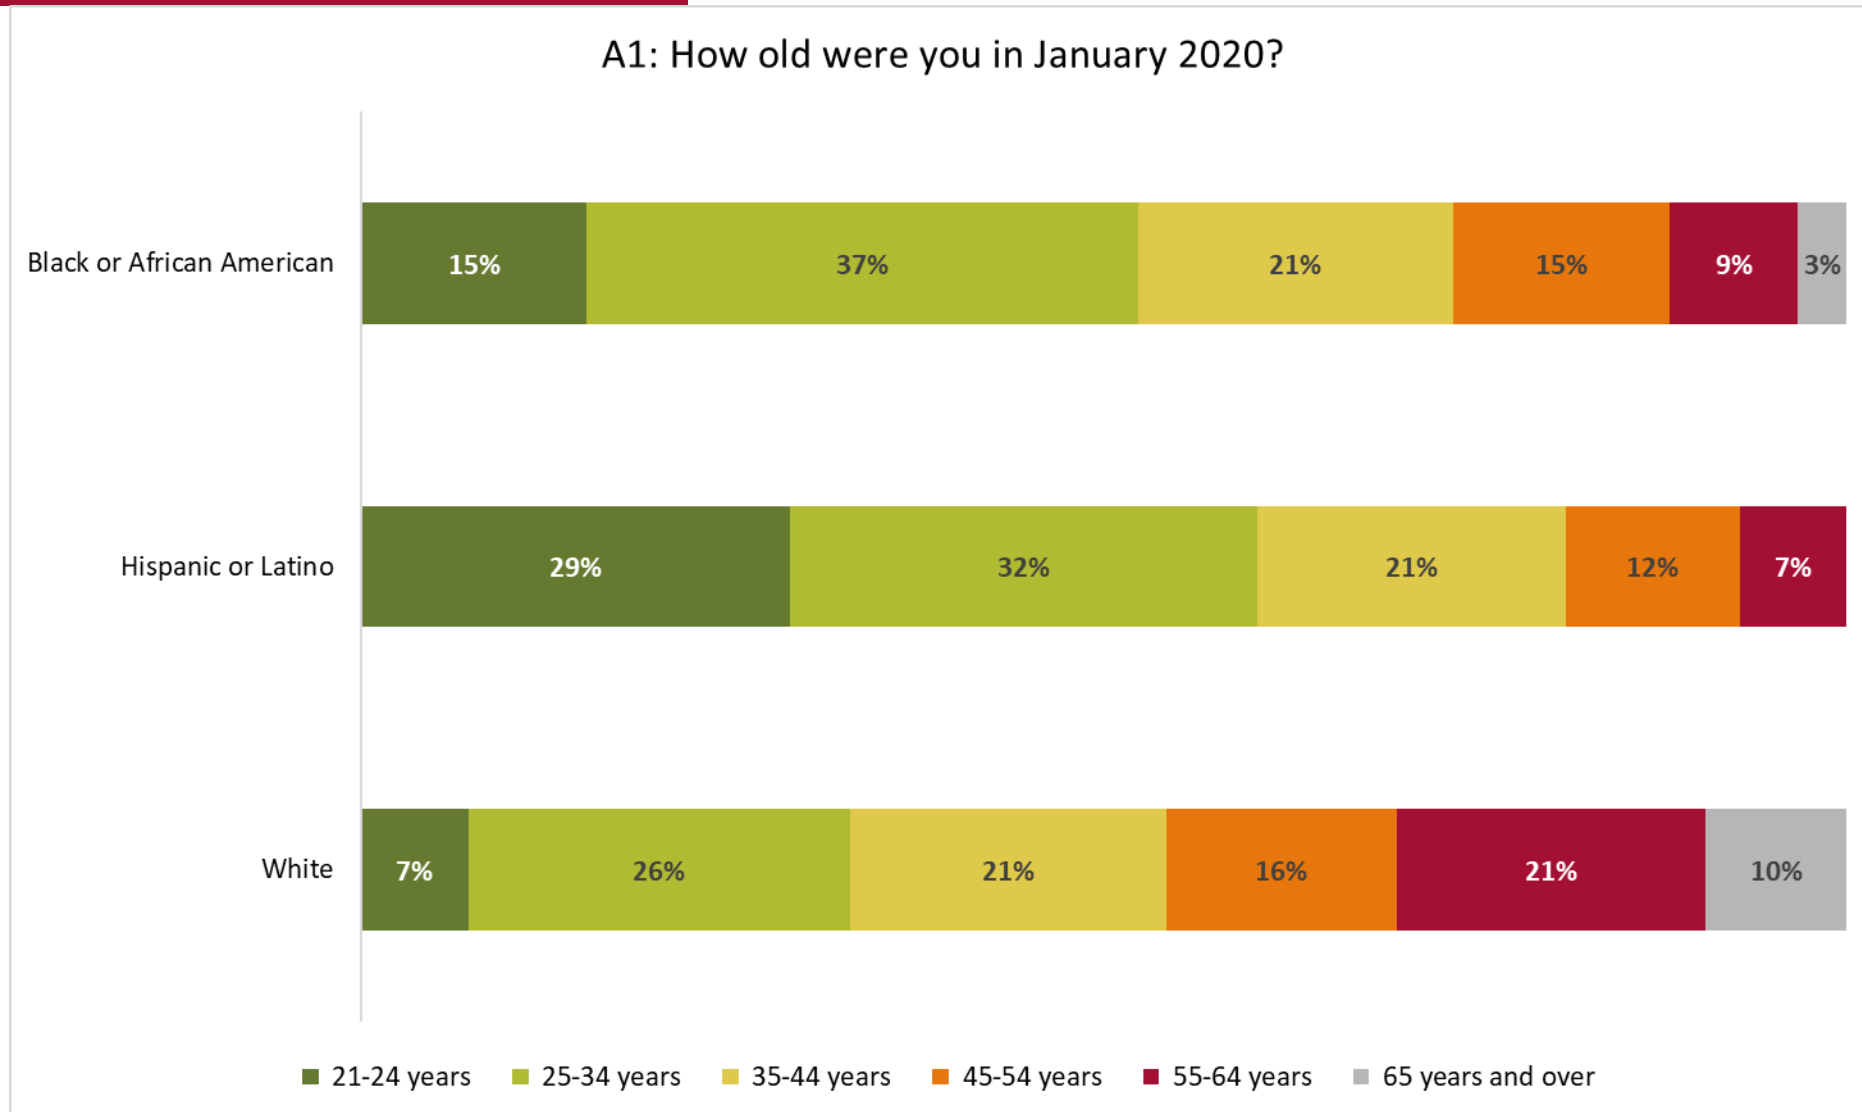

- Numbers may not sum to 100% due to rounding. All numbers are rounded to the nearest integer. However, the data is recorded to two decimal places – thus some data points labeled “0%” may be nonzero but rounded down.
- For the purposes of this survey, we define low-wage employees as full-time or part-time employees who earn hourly wages that are 200% or below the federal poverty threshold. Depending on which part of the country they work in, these employees typically earn wages around $7 per hour (or approximately $14,000 per year) to $20 per hour (or approximately $40,000 per year).
- Results in this deck are shown only for Black or African American (N=151), Hispanic or Latinx (N=111), or White (N=750) respondents, unless N’s are otherwise noted. Respondents also had the option to select Middle Eastern or North African (N=2), Asian or Asian American (N=26), American Indian, Alaska Native, or Other Indigenous (N=15), Native Hawaiian or Other Pacific Islander (N=6), Prefer to self-describe (N=9), or Prefer not to answer (N=7), but results for these groups are not shown due to small sample sizes. Note that respondents could select multiple races, so there may be some overlap between the groups.

Section B

Source: "Upward Mobility Survey of Low-Wage Workers in the U.S.," September–November 2020, Project on Managing the Future of Work, Harvard Business School.

Note: this was calculated using questions B12-B15. For questions B12-B14, we totaled up the number of people in the respondent's household. We then used a table listing the 200% poverty cutoff for each household number (ex. 3 person household cutoff was $39,970). If the salary in question B15 was below the threshold for their household number, they were deemed <200% poverty, if the salary was above the threshold, they were deemed >200% poverty. Note question B15 gave ranges of salaries, so this is an estimate.
